Jerry, I know you not well, but that's besides the real point. (you had) you really a sweet, lovable, kind generous and wonderful.
But I guess I could have told a few little white lies (big black ones)
And have fun (I know you will)
But Jerry I really hope you will have lots of good luck.
Judie.

1 Jerry,
I can't believe that our class is about to graduate. It seems so bad to me right now. The end is almost here and now I feel bad.
I hope you have the best of luck in what you do next year. Be good and God bless you.

Murray's changing appearance through the past forty-seven years has brought forth a striking new addition in 1963.

We have reached a new level in educational equipment and opportunities. The continual expansion, however, has not been restricted to physical growth for each of us has been building mentally, also. We strive for a new awareness, the ability to cooperate and to meet academic challenges.

Growth will not stop here. We look to the future for an even better Murray.

Jerry,

My god, I'm glad the year is almost over, I won't have to see you every day then - I'll be good for once - what am I talking about - your lots of fun and a real good kid - I'll miss you and your "stupid" little remarks.

Have fun with the Big Gang at least there won't be any school to hold you down!

Pat B.

Jerry,

Well, this is it - I hope! Wouldn't that be terrible if I flunked out now. Oh god. Well, this summer all of us guys should get together & have a nice bash. okay. Well best always to a great person

To The Members Of The Faculty And Administration

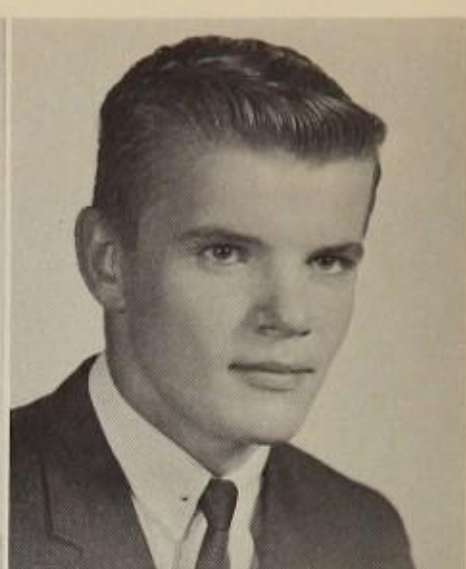

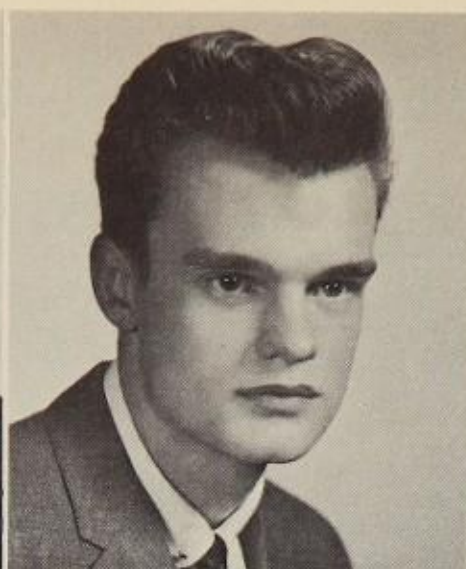

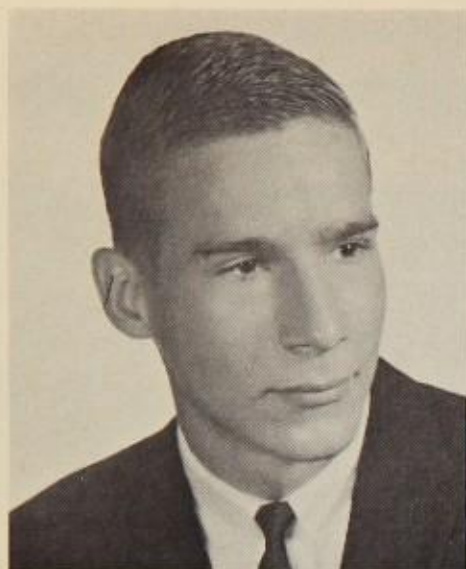

Leona Newquist, Mary Woldt, Helen Rutz, Ethel Agnew, Winifred O'Dwyer.

Busy every day from early morning preparing the student lunches are the cooks. With Winifred O'Dwyer supervising the kitchen, they each perform their duties with diligence. Before lunch they all help with the preparation of the meals. When lunch comes they each take up their different positions. Leona Newquist is the "milk lady," Helen Rutz, Mary Woldt, and Winifred O'Dwyer serve the food, and Ethel Agnew, the pastry cook, is cashier.

Busy every day making sure Murray is kept in the best condition is the crew of custodians headed by Mr. Marvin House. Mr. Soderman and Mr. Sutherlin are engineers on the crew. Making up the rest of the crew but not pictured here due to a conflict in schedule are Mrs. Marjorie Mundy, Mrs. Marie Nahl, Mr. Ernest Anderson and Mr. John Sassor. Long after the students go home, the custodians clean the school so it will be ready for the next day.

As We Strive For Maturity Which Opens New Doors

over high school events. We have many fond memories of our years at Murray, years which have seen much change in us. We remember the feeling of futility when we were new here and had to ask someone for directions; now we are the ones showing the new students around our new building. We, the class of 1963, will be the first to graduate from the new Murray, complete with pool, gym and science labs. We remember the excitement of our first canteen which changed to the excitement of attending the Junior-Senior Prom. We remember the thrill and awe with which we watched the queen candidates on stage at homecoming, wondering if our day would ever come; our day did come as we saw our classmates on stage. There are many more memories for each of us, of our Murray days, some bad, some good, but none to be forgotten

As Graduation Ends High School

The Quest For Knowledge And Truth Is Almost Over

Rehearsing various scenes from this year's senior class play, Little Women, are Lois Gredvig, Charles Nightingale, Jane Gilje, Joan Kruskopf and Andrea Shuster.

The play was decided upon after the speech classes had read various plays, and a group of interested seniors had met. After a week of try-outs in late October, a double cast was chosen. The casts then started rehearsing every other day until the play was perfected and ready to present.

The senior class play is not only for a few seniors, but involves most of the class. Seniors interested in art, under the direction of Mr. Daniel Sorenson, spent many hours designing and painting the sets.

Priscilla Hager and Barbara Lembke practice their skit before they put it on at the senior class party which was held November 2. Looking on are Jeff Otto trying to master the hula hoop, Jim Knutson and Pam Comstock.

Facilities in the gym, such as volleyball, ping pong and hula hoops, were available for the seniors' use. Movies were shown in the band room while dancing and basketball were held in the gym.

Priscilla Hager and Jerry Loney were the general chairmen for the party.

As Seniors Achieve Athletic And Scholastic Awards

Begging hall monitors Tom Barrows, Jerry Crowell and Bob Allen to get through the halls is senior Mary Jo Slettom.

The hall monitors, an important part of the noon hour, are stationed at the end of each hall and at doorways. They keep students out of the halls and on school grounds during the lunch periods.

Hall monitors are given a credit in school service and are chosen by Mr. George Rose. They are members of the Student Council.

Ready to serve customers at the AFS chicken barbeque on July 4 are Joan Coffman, Jane Gilje, Susan Smith, Elizabeth Frost, Andrea Shuster and Carole Barthold.

When fund raising efforts during the school year failed to raise sufficient funds to finance an AFS student, members of the senior class began to look for ways to raise the money. A chicken barbeque proved highly successful, producing more than the amount required.

Using geometric principles to make Christmas designs and snowflakes are sophomores Brook Hambley, Sandy Merrill, Ken Auld and Steve Johnson. Each year Miss Margaret Paschke's plane geometry classes study the fundamentals of geometric construction by devices similar to these. They also prove rules concerning angles, lines, distances and figures. Plane geometry is an elective math course for the senior high. Most students take it as sophomores.

All These Leading To A Wonderful Sophomore Year

Looking at various styles of class rings are sophomores Tom Good, Marcia Briggs, Steve Gasch, Frank Quale and Joyce Johnson. In the spring the sophomores organize as a class, elect officers and order class rings after voting on the styles picked by the ring committee. Each class member orders his particular choice of setting in the chosen style.

Studying various parts of the human torso are sophomores Meredy Razkazoff, Jim Haechrel and Connie Englund. Biology is offered in the tenth grade and is an elective choice of a majority of sophomores.

Besides studying human biology, students study botany and the lower forms of animal life. In the fall the biology students are required to make collections of insects and leaves. During the second half of the year dissecting is done.

Learning to use the slide rule in freshman algebra class are Bruce Bates, Andrew Turnbull, Priscilla Anderson, Lynn Vogelsang and Carol Balcome.

Algebra is offered as an elective in the freshman year and is chosen by most of the students as their course is math. Solving equations, factoring, and solving word problems are some of the basic skills of algebra taught in this class.

Writing a term paper on Minnesota is a long range assignment given to students in Mr. Ronald Causton's freshman social studies classes. Asking for help from Mr. Causton is Carol Bieseke while Andrew Rogness and Joel Aamodt continue working.

Current events, local, state and national government, occupations and a short study of good driving habits and rules are all included in freshman social studies.

Learning the fundamentals of music in their eighth grade band class are Lois Rogen, Peggy Ayres and Sara Halvorson. Tryouts for positions are held at the beginning of the semester. Members of the class participate in the senior band's annual concert. The band classes are under the direction of Mr. Alex Heron. It is an elective course taken the second semester.

Striving For Recognition And Working To Succeed

In Murray's new swimming pool are Vicki Foster and Colleen Gallagher practicing their back float as Sara Halvorson and Jean Overgard are ready to assist.

Swimming is held every other week alternating with physical education classes and is required for every student in grades 7-10. The basic fundamentals of swimming are first taught and then work is begun on kicks, stroking and diving.

Matching colors and fabrics in home economics are Margery Lembke, Hebe Morgan, Christine Miller and Pamela Reisdorph.

Activities

Junior-Senior Prom

The "Playboys," led by Dave Magnuson, an alumnus of Murray, was the band chosen by the committee to play at the prom. They played many songs to follow through with the Parisian theme. Among these were: "C'est si Bon," "I Love Paris," "Je Vous Aime Bau Coup," "April in Paris," "GiGi," "Mademoiselle de Paris," "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "Moulin Rouge" and "I Kiss Your Hand, Madam".

All the members of the band wore white French berets, designed and made especially for Murray's prom.

"C'est si Bon" Brings Forth Paris In Springtime

The theme of the 1962 prom, held on May 11, was "C'est si Bon," a French phrase signifying Paris in the springtime. The ballroom at the student center was transformed into a Parisian boulevard lined with pink and white flower trees. At one end stood a replica of the Eiffel Tower, along with a white flower cart.

The tables at the side had white tablecloths and vases, each of which contained a single pink rose.

During the spring of 1961 the sophomore class began planning their Junior-Senior Prom by choosing committee chairmen, the band and place where the prom was to be held.

Pictured looking over the newly arrived datebooks are a representation of the 1962 Junior-Senior Prom committee chairmen, Carole Barthold, Mary Jo Slettom, Gayl Gayman, Joan Enerson, (standing) Mike Sullivan, Andrea Shuster, and Margaret Wolf. Those chairmen not pictured are Greg Page, Mark Thompson and Kathy Nielson. The general chairman of the prom was Greg Page, who appointed the other committee chairmen.

Cheerleaders

The cheerleading squad consists of five seniors and two juniors. They are under the direction of Mrs. Fritsche and their captain Kathy Nielsen.

The squad promotes school spirit and attends all athletic events. They financed football culottes and hats for their uniforms with the profits from the Cheerleader's Dance held in January.

The year was climaxed when they cheered at the State Hockey Tournament.

The cheerleaders put on their skates to perform at a hockey game.

Canteen Board

Juniors Head Board, Plan Dances For Senior High

The Canteen Board is a service group that volunteers its help to make Murray a better school. Mr. Edward Datko and Mr. James Palmer are the advisors for the board. Lea Lippert, chairman, helps the advisors by seeing that all responsibilities of the board are carried out.

The board is chosen in the early fall by the previous board and is announced at a canteen which is sponsored by the members of the old board.

The Canteen Board has many responsibilities. Although there are not as many canteens this year, they must plan all that are held, make decorations, arrange for the music, get chaperons and see that everyone is having a good time. At the end of the canteen, they have to clean up the gym so that it will be ready for classes on Monday.

The proceeds from the canteens help to pay for decorations and new records.

Lea Lippert is enjoying himself at a canteen while he watches canteen board member Millie Vong and sophomore Liz Torgerson twist.

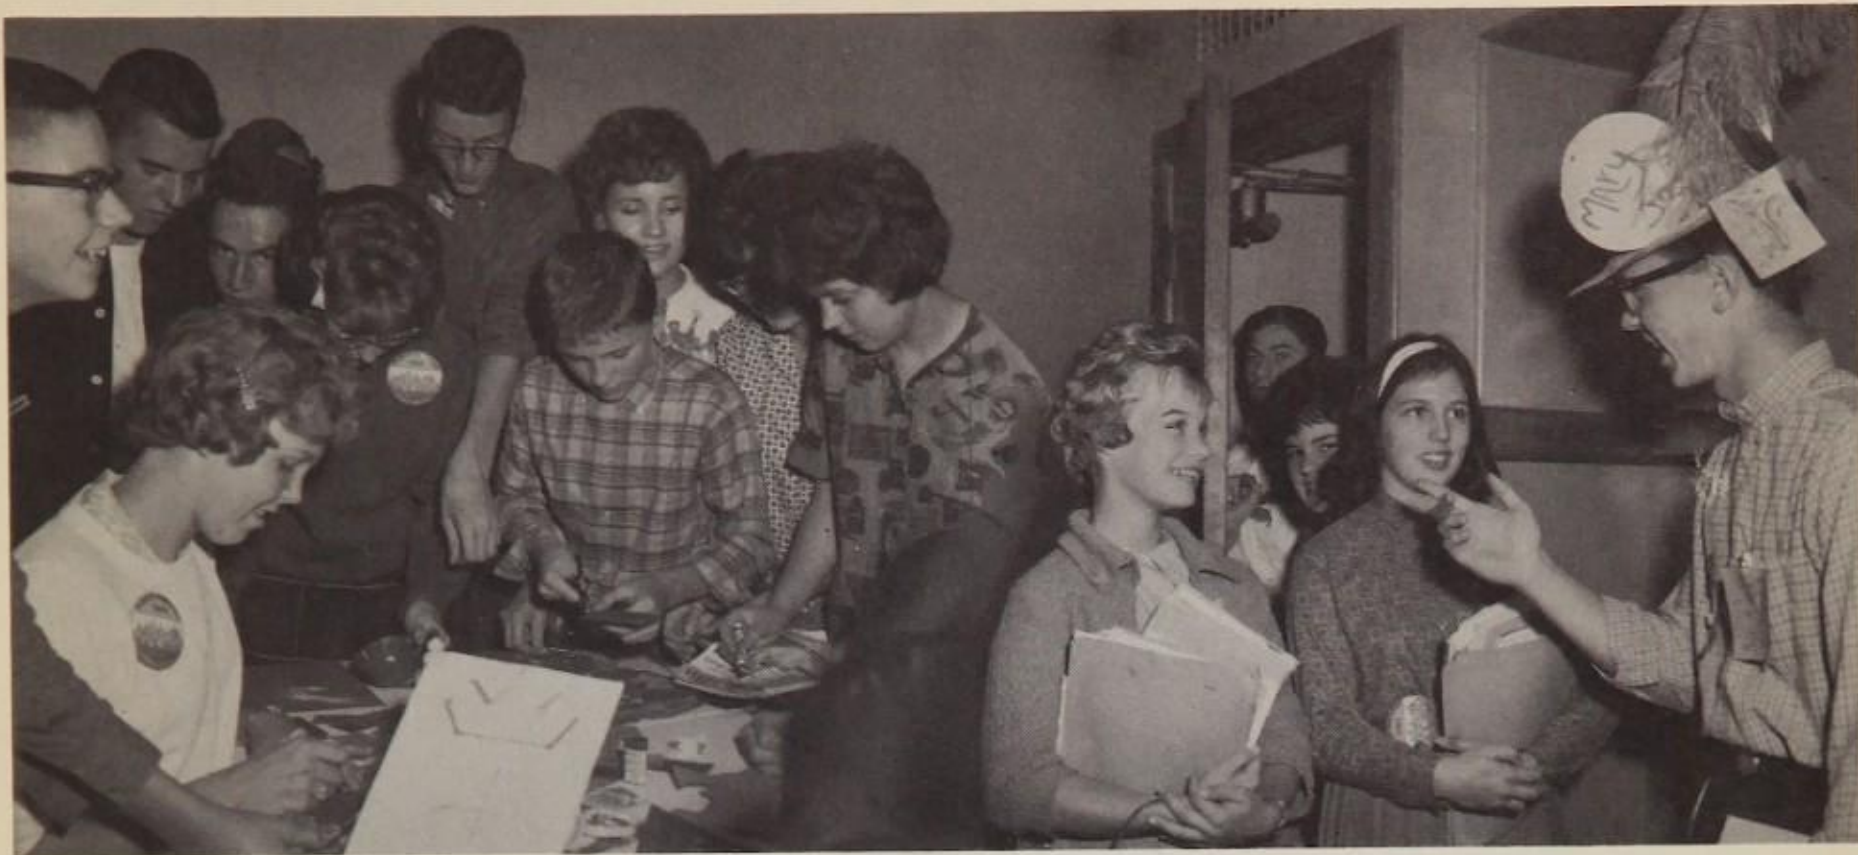

Lots of time goes into planning for a canteen. Many times after school the canteen board members are found in the cafeteria or auditorium thinking up an original theme or making decorations for the canteens.

Homecoming

Week Of October 5 Has Thrills, Tension, Victory

The week of October 5 was filled with campaigning for a favorite queen candidate, the coronation, the victory football game over Harding, and the dance sponsored by the GAA on Friday night.

The senior class elected five candidates to run for queen. Each girl chose a campaign manager who had the jobs of introducing her to the student body, handling her publicity and being her escort at the coronation assembly. Sue Jack, Murray's 1961 Homecoming queen, crowned Sandy Olson as the new queen before the whole school.

Sandy smiles after being crowned the new queen.

Band Renders Service Both To Community And School

Murray's band is an integral part of the school. It performs at football, hockey and basketball games, as well as at pep assemblies. The band skated at the Winter Carnival and each year plays for various community functions, such as on Memorial Day.

The band marches at a basketball game.

The majorettes and the flagtwirlers combined this year to form Murray's pom pom girls. Co-captained by Sandra Olson and JoAnn Wagener, the group marched with the band at the games. Karen Jensen performed at several football games with a flaming baton, and the pom pom girls entertained with the twist at basketball games.

Kneeling before their new pom poms are the majorettes Sandy Olson, captain; Sharon Thistle and Priscilla Thurow. Standing are the flag-twirlers JoAnn Wagener, captain; Karen Wacholz, Barbara Turnquist, Marilyn Ashley and Darlene Durant.

Junior, Senior Bands Entertain At Two Concerts

This year the senior and junior bands gave two joint concerts. In addition to their annual spring concert, one was given in mid-winter. Along with these projects, the bands sold candy last fall.

Shown after the Mid-Winter Concert are the officers of the senior and junior bands. Sitting are senior band officers Gary Kwong, treasurer; Karen Lee, secretary; Tom Barrows, vice-president; and Dorothy Boland, president. Standing are junior band officers Jane Skovholt, treasurer; Sara Halvorson, secretary; Lois Rogen, vice-president; and Martin Grindle, president.

Choir

Every year Murray's choir entertains for the enjoyment of all at many functions. In addition to their annual Christmas program, they gave an operetta in the spring entitled Masquerade in Vienna, an adaptation of Strauss' Die Fledermaus.

The choir also sang at the dedication of the new building, various assemblies, baccalaureate and commencement.

School Is Entertained By Various Choir Programs

Junior Choir Expands To Great Size And Sound

The junior choir had an exceptionally high membership this year. Consisting of boys and girls who like to sing from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, they numbered nearly 175 members.

They held a concert in the springtime, for which they were required to practice in two sections because of the large group.

Members of the junior choir, John Swanson, Christine Jensen, Norman DeWitt, Gary Englund, Kathy Lauerer and Barbara Souther, search the files for selections that their choir will sing.

Row 1: Patricia Brooks, Gayle Woodhouse, Leslie Miller, Judith McMahon, Joan Brings, Myrna Grunwald, Susan Allison, Mikelynn Glander • Sandra Schaller, Joyce Carlson, Jacquelyne Strain, Linda Prong, Joy Lynn Bartlett, Jeanne Ewy, Leslie Curtiss, Jeannine Reuteler, Margaret Pomeroy • Daniel Marsh, Jerome Fishbeck, John Bentley, Jared Hoke, Norman Gage, Lyle Kelley, Elise Hagen, Sally Johnson,

German Club

The German Round Singers were under the leadership of Lynn Schanke this year. The group performed several times during the Christmas season.

German Students Project Language Into Their Lives

At their meetings this year the members of the German Club became acquainted with the flavor of the rich and varied German culture.

At the initiation in the fall, the new members received red suspenders, which they wore the next day. They were required to sing a German song upon meeting another member.

At Christmas time a party was held in the true German spirit. German Christmas customs, carols and holiday food were featured. The club also attended a party at Macalester College.

Other meetings included a play in German written by Goethe, a sleigh ride, a showing of slides taken in Germany with an emphasis on Berlin and the annual spring banquet in the form of a pancake breakfast.

Newly-initiated members Tom Good, Lynn Elvester, Art Kottke and Susan Razskazoff sing "Mein Hut" as Libby Frost directs.

Ancient Language Scholars Review Roman History

Latin Club, whose membership includes students who are now taking or have taken Latin, holds six meetings during the year, one of which is the annual spring banquet.

In its meetings the club hopes to acquaint the members with ancient Roman civilization and the background of the Latin language so they may see the tremendous influence both the civilization and the language exert on the world today.

At the fall initiation the new members went on a journey to the Underworld. The next day they wore long ears and a tail, symbolic of Pluto, god of the Underworld.

Joel Aamodt, Priscilla Anderson and Ezra Gebremedhin converse with Mr. Addison, club advisor, after a meeting at which they spoke on Japan, Brazil and Ethiopia, respectively.

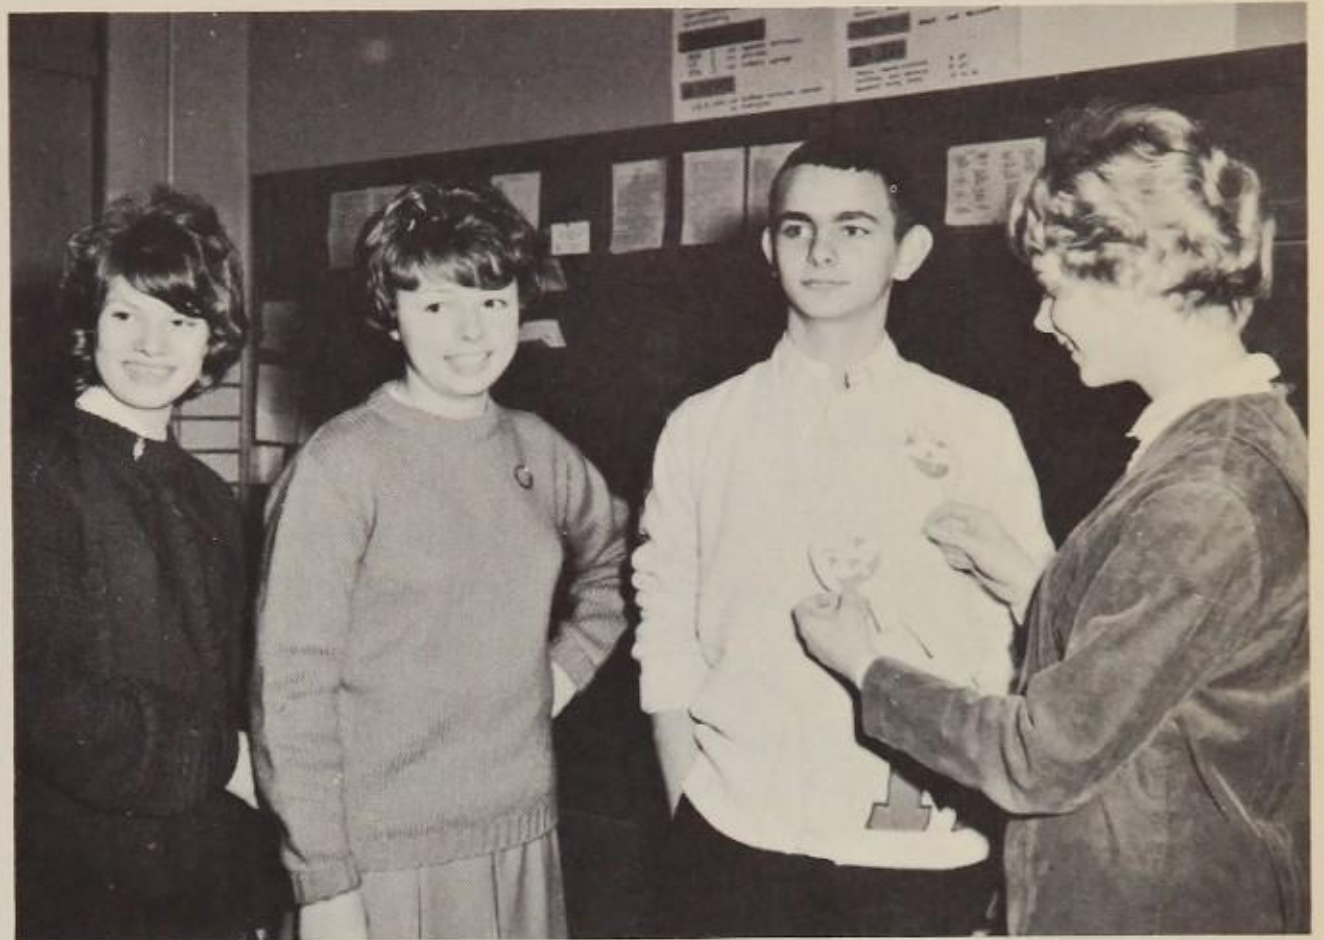

Quill And Scroll

Journalism Students Join National Honorary Society

Quill and Scroll is an honorary society for high school journalists who have performed outstanding work in journalism and rank in the top one-third of their class.

Murray's chapter holds two initiation banquets each year, one in the spring and the other in the fall.

At the fall initiation, Mary Jo Slettom and Randi Jensen watch appreciatively as Bobbi Lembke pins the "Great Pumpkin" awards for journalistic endeavor on Jerry Loney.

Row 1: Karen Lee, president; Joan Paskewitz, vice-president; Victoria Moor, secretary; Barbara Lembke, treasurer • Joan Coffman, Gayl Gayman, Joan Enerson, Marjorie Sautter, Anita Slifer • Jane Gilje,

Dramatic Club

"Let's Brew Up A Good Year" was the theme of this year's Dramatic Club. The club is under the supervision of advisor Miss Florence Vest.

To become a member of the Dramatic Club, one must show an interest in dramatics and meet the tryout qualifications. After tryouts, students who have met the qualifications are admitted and initiated at the September meeting. Officers are elected in the spring of the previous year.

Dramatic Club meetings are held every month with different students in charge of each meeting. A special meeting is held at Christmas.

Mary Jo Slettom, Carole Barthold and Cheri LeClair practice a skit they plan to give at a Dramatic Club meeting.

Busy completing the scenery for the class play are Lynn Schanke, Randi Jensen and Vickie Moor.

Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women," adapted for play form by John D. Ravold, was chosen by members of the senior class and Miss Florence Vest, head of the speech department, as the 1963 senior class play. Tryouts were held in early October, and practice was in full swing by the end of the month. After three months of rehearsals, the play was presented on January 31 and February 1.

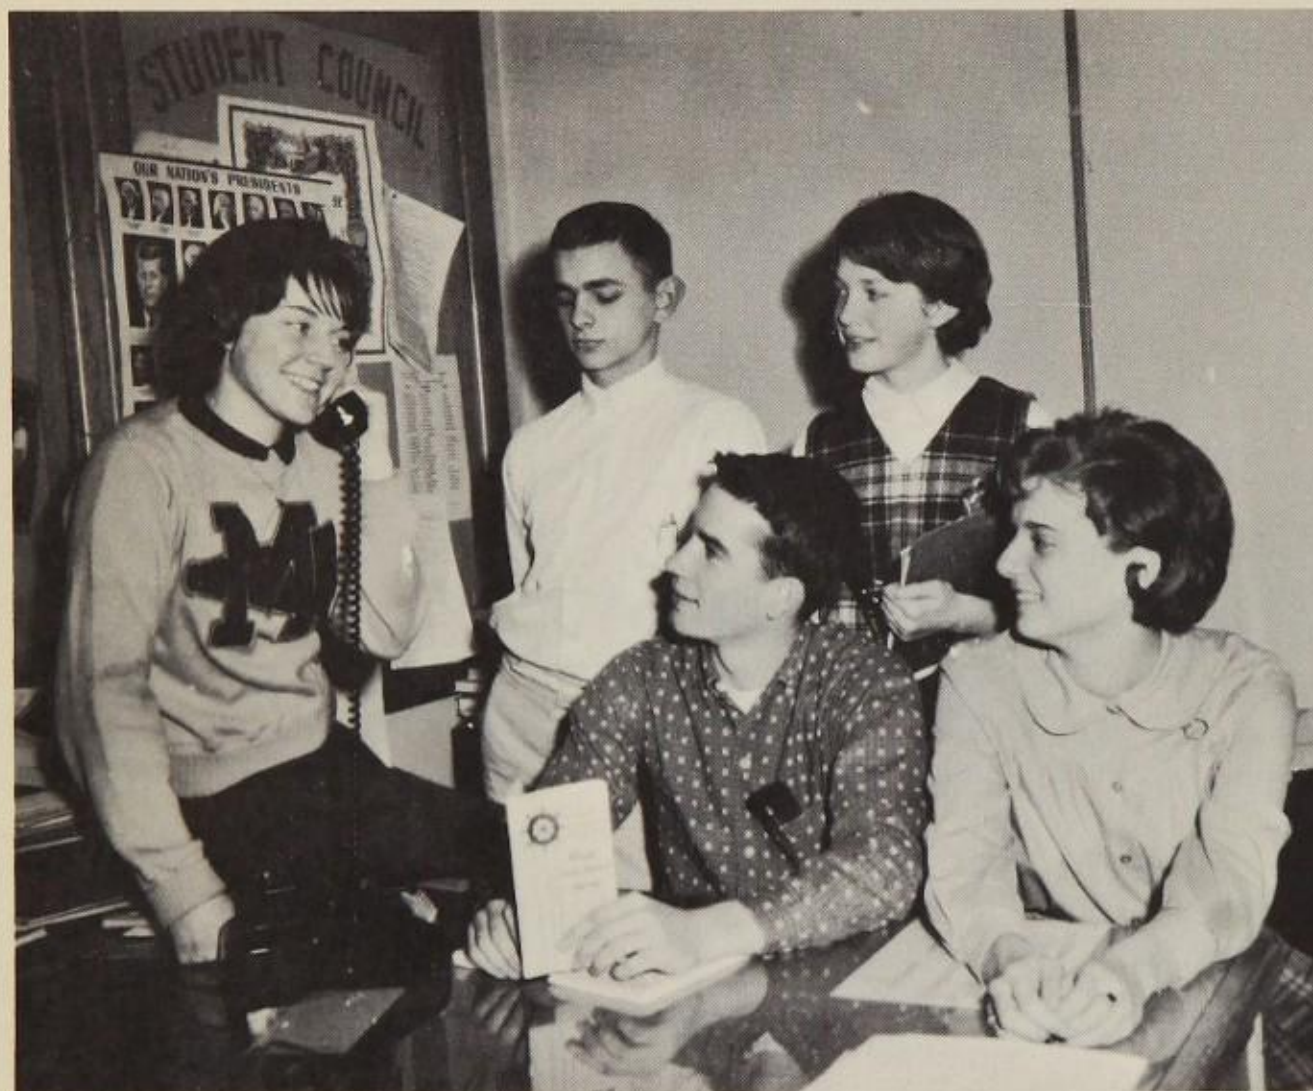

The play centers around the life of the four March girls. They are boyish Jo, who loves to write books; Meg, who is the little mother; Amy, who is self-righteous and conceited; and little Beth, who dies of rheumatic fever. The play gives a representation of life in the nineteenth century.

Marmee (Joan Paskewitz) is reading a letter from her husband away at war to her daughters Beth (Margaret Wolf), Meg (Priscilla Hager), Jo (Libby Frost) and Amy (Bobbi Lembke).

Student Council

Governing Body Strives For Completion Of Its Goals

Gayl Gayman, All-City officer, talks to another All-City officer on Student Council business while Bill Mantis, president; Priscilla Hager, vice-president; Jerry Loney, treasurer; and Kathy DeWitt, secretary; eavesdrop.

The senior high Student Council consists of two members from each homeroom and four officers. Under their advisor, Mr. George Rose, the Council sets up service committees and holds monthly meetings to discuss school problems and affairs.

Council members represent Murray at many outside meetings throughout the year. The state convention in Worthington, and the United Fund and Governor's Traffic Safety conventions are a few events that were attended by Council members.

Gayl Gayman, city-wide Student Council secretary-treasurer, attends all the city Council meetings with permanent-elect member, Mike Sullivan. These meetings are once a month and are used to solve city council affairs.

This year, due to more space with the new building, a larger bookstore opened at Murray. It is located across from the auditorium and is now under the sponsorship of the Student Council.

The bookstore sells mostly school supplies and features "Pilot" pennants and Murray stickers. Council members feel that these will help promote school spirit.

Student Council advisor, Mr. George Rose, keeps the bookstore well supplied for student and faculty use.

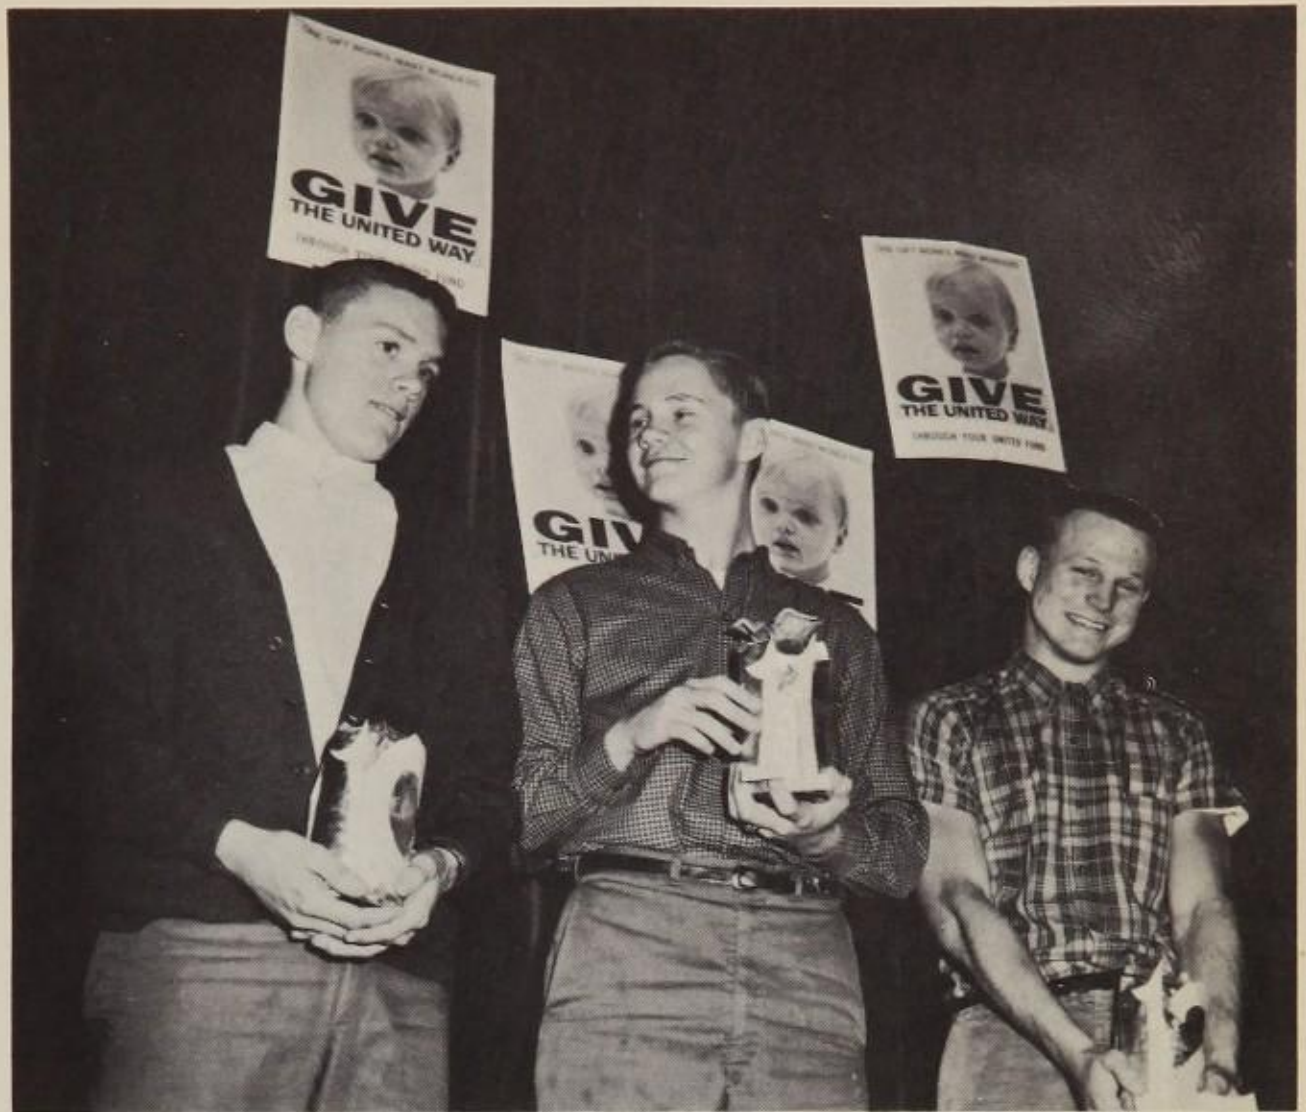

David Barthold is shown buying some school supplies from Mary Nason and Mr. Rose in the new bookstore.

On October 17, Murray sponsored its United Fund Drive. This year the goal was $93. However, $138.47 was taken in. The drive gives students and faculty an opportunity to contribute to worthy organizations such as the St. Paul Rehabilitation Center, Hallie Q. Brown Community House and the Society of the Blind. The drive lasted for one week and was climaxed by two assemblies which featured a movie pointing out the purposes of the United Fund Organization and a march where students made their contributions to the drive.

The Student Council also sponsored their annual Sno'-Foolin' Day on February 15.

The hall monitors during lunch are also Council members.

Proudly holding the jars of money from the United Fund Drive are Wally Gayman, sophomore; Kenny Caldwell, junior; and Trygg Hansen, senior.

Junior High Council Represents Younger Students

Supporting the projects of the senior Student Council and learning the rules and procedures of the governing school body are two of the junior high Council's major purposes.

The junior Council helps to carry out the plans of the senior Council and works with them on special jobs. This year both Councils worked together decorating the school for Christmas. The junior Council decorated the cafeteria, and the senior Council did the auditorium and office.

Hanging Christmas decorations in the cafeteria are junior Council officers Bonnie Hassanger, treasurer; Margaret DeWitt, president; Lois Rogen, secretary; and Donald Paskewitz, vice-president.

Sno'-Foolin'

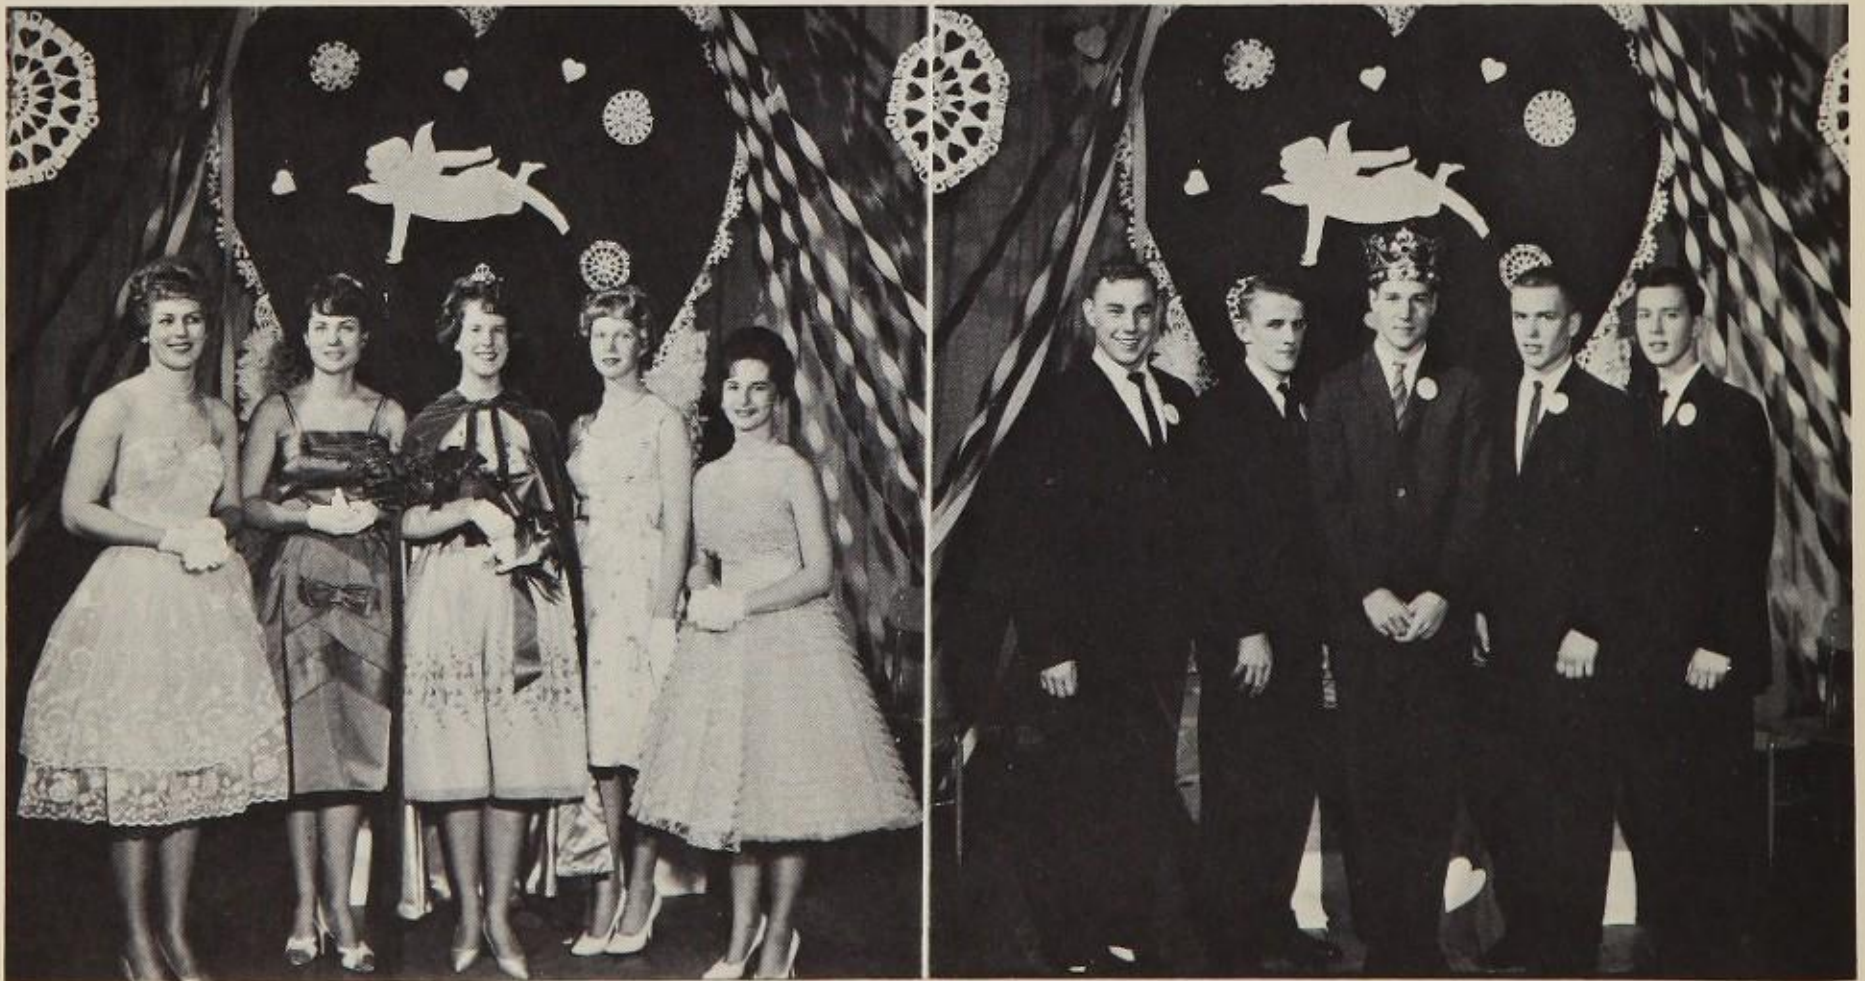

Sno'-Foolin' Day, held on February 15, was sponsored by the Student Council with Gayl Gayman and Jerry Loney as co-chairmen.

Queen Libby Frost and King Greg Page were crowned by the St. Paul Queen of the Snows. The day was spent skiing, tobogganing, skating and playing broomball at Como Park. It was climaxed by the dance "Cupid's Wonderland."

Libby Frost, Greg Page Reign As Snow Day Royalty

Sno'-Foolin' candidates and the new queen are Kathy Nielsen, Jane Gilje, Queen Libby Frost, Bobbi Lembke and Karen Cheney.

Sno'-Foolin' candidates and the new king are Jim Dexter, Ted Granovsky, King Greg Page, Mark Thompson and Tom Thorstenson.

More Efficient Service To Murray Students, Faculty

With the new room and facilities acquired this year, Murray's library has become a bigger, better and more popular place.

Some action seen in the library is, at far left, Gisela Fohlmeister, Kay Boyle, Fred Ahlgren, Bill Slettom and Kathy Hartwick, as they trim the library's Christmas tree. Left are seen Library Club president, Mary Jo Slettom, looking on while John Bates, Gary Fehrman and Ted Granovsky avidly follow the sports news in the daily papers. Meanwhile, Tom Thorstenson, right, persuades Janet Pankonin to buy Bruce Nelson an enjoyable paperback book during the library's paperback book sale.

Murcurie Staff

Randi Jensen and Sue Talbott, co-editors of the Murcurie, look over old editions of the paper as they try to find a proper layout for the Sno-Foolin' edition. They do this whenever a lay-out problem comes up.

Besides being co-editors, Randi and Sue are also page one editors of the Murcurie. They must always be on the alert for news for their page and for the other three pages.

They are also kept busy conferring with the printer.

Staff Reporters Search For, Find, Print Murray

"And what secrets are you burning?" seems to be the question Pamela Comstock, page two editor of the Murcurie, is asking the furnace which can be found deep down in Murray's boiler room. Barbara Lembke, Pam's co-editor, is taking notes and, although this may seem a queer place to get a story, Pam and Barb can often be found in much more ridiculous places getting even odder stories. The page two editors deviate from the straight news style of the other three pages. Creativity is stressed.

Two of the Murcurie's sports editors, Karen Lee and Jerry Loney, take time to see what other schools are doing in the field of sports. The third editor, Gayl Gayman, checks Murray's sports bulletin board to make sure no sport has been slighted in the upcoming issue of the Murcurie.

Nancy Miller, Joan Paske-witz and Mr. Lape seem elated over the large amount of money that is shown coming in from the popcorn ball sale, a drive held each year by the Murcurie staff. The money is used to supplement the Murcurie's expenses.

Joan and Nancy are business managers of the paper, and Mr. Lape is the faculty advisor. Joan also holds the job of advertising editor of the Murcurie which includes the selling of, and collecting for, the ads found on pages three and four of the paper.

News To Inform Students Of School Happenings

"And don't forget to check on that story," says Marjorie Sautter, the Murcurie's roving reporter, to Andrea Shuster, advertising editor and photographer, as she leaves to secure a new ad for the Murcurie.

Marjorie also sends out copies of the paper to other schools in exchange for copies of theirs.

Carol Hendrickson and Joan Coffman, co-editors of page three of the Murcurie, seem to be getting some good news out of, of all places, a wastepaper basket for their column 'quiring around . . . which is found on page three in every edition of the paper.

Page three consists of news briefs, news not important enough to get on page one, yet, important enough to be read, and lists of different club activities.

Carol is also a copyreader for the Murcurie.

Pilot Staff

Co-editors of the 1963 Pilot are Joan Enerson and Karen Schroeder. Pictured at left, they are looking over the envelopes which contain the copy and pictures for each page, checking that all the pictures and copy fit and that the chosen style has been correctly followed.

The co-editors are chosen in the spring of their junior year. From then until the Pilot comes out, they are kept busy conferring with the printer and making sure that the rest of the staff meets their deadlines.

Annual Staff Labors Diligently Recording Memorable

Elizabeth Frost, Lois Gredvig and Priscilla Hager are activity editors of the Pilot. Their job is the big one of setting up and executing all club and extracurricular activity pictures. The activity section is the largest one in the yearbook, and the editors are kept busy looking for unusual pictures that will add to their section.

Elizabeth is also the art editor of the Pilot. She made the staff's style sheets and helped to design the cover of the 1963 Pilot.

Pilot senior editors are Kathleen Baukol, Joan Kampa and Victoria Moor. These three make sure every senior has his senior picture taken and that this, his name, and the activities he has participated in for the past four years are included in their section of the Pilot.

Kathleen and Victoria are also advertising editors; Joan is an index editor.

Mr. John Lape busily counts the money coming in from the November Pilot subscription drive as business manager Mary Jo Slettom fills out receipts to be given to those students who have subscribed.

Mary Jo, as business manager, must figure out just how much can be spent for the make-up of the yearbook and then must keep the staff inside this budget.

Mr. Lape, advisor, keeps the Pilot staff well informed on how to successfully plan and produce a yearbook.

Happenings Of 1962-63 School Year For Students

Pilot sports editor Gregory Page patiently explains to his co-editor Carole Barthold that you don't hold a hockey stick like a baseball bat. However, Carole, who livens up the sports section of the Pilot with the "girls' point of view," seems to have gotten her sports a bit mixed up.

Carole and Gregory are seen at all the major Murray sports events where they get actual scores, descriptions and details of these events for the 1963 Pilot.

Jane Gilje and Anita Slifer, class editors of the Pilot, diligently check on the right spelling of students' names in the seventh through eleventh grades.

Class pictures are taken in the fall, and the editors are kept busy taking informal pictures of the students as they attend classes throughout the year.

Faculty, Students, School Served While Cadettes

Under the supervision of Miss Valborg Helseth, the Business Cadettes learn the role of women in business. This aim is achieved through daily class periods and practical experience. Class periods are spent in gaining a thorough knowledge of business techniques, such as typing and filing. Also the members assist the faculty by typing tests, mimeographing materials, cutting stencils and doing clerical work similar to that found in an office.

Kathleen Webber, Business Cadettes president, assists Mr. Fulmek with his book-keeping.

Business Cadettes sell home-made fudge once a month. The girls make it the night before and sell it the next day in the ticket booth. This is their only means of financial support. The profits finance speakers for their meetings or sponsor field trips. This year the group went to Remington Rand Univac.

The highlight of the year is the spring banquet at which the next year's officers are installed.

Making use of the ditto machines are Betty Ann Evans and Karen Allen. Marilyn Ashley watches Joanne Scholz use the electric typewriter as Kathy Nielsen staples papers together.

Gain Business Knowledge, Techniques, Experience

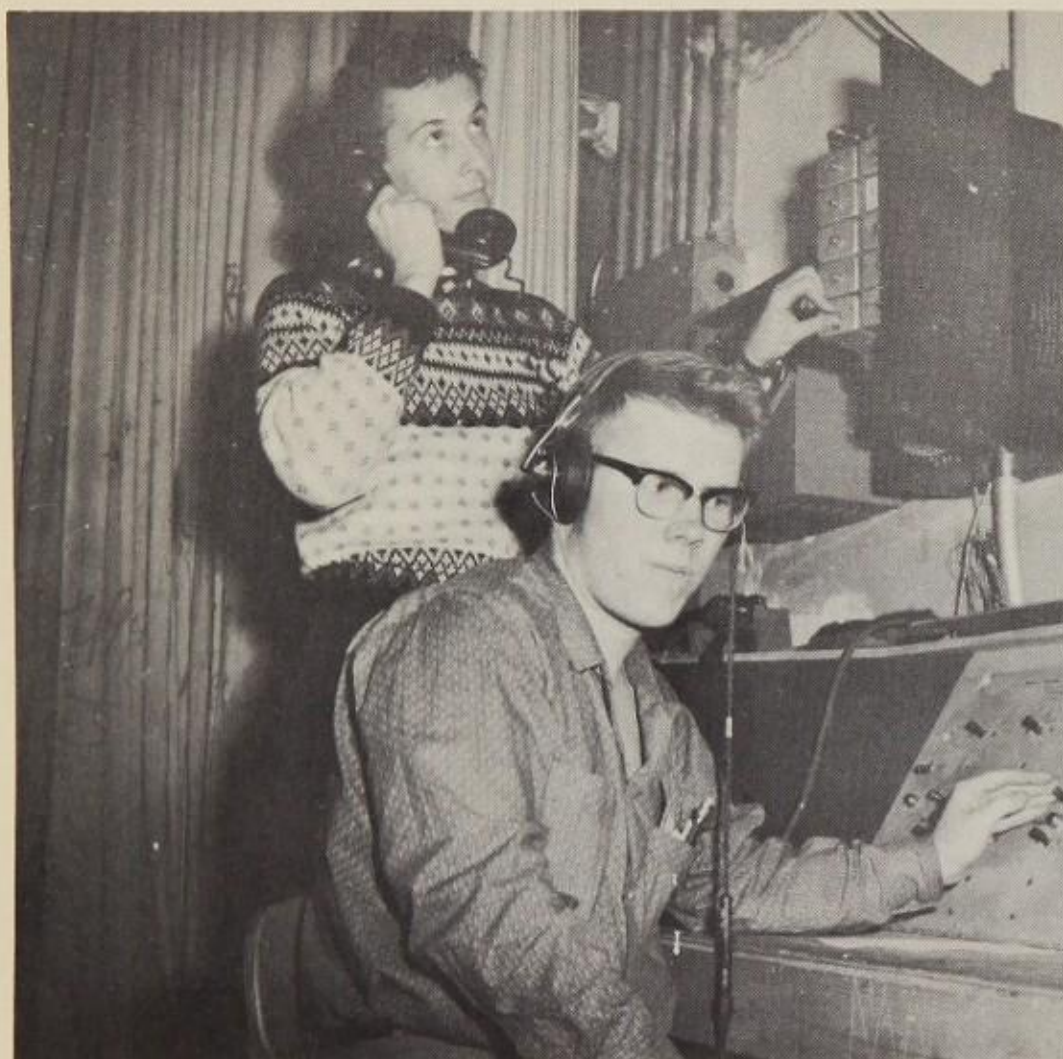

The feminine side of business is shown by the Cadettes at the annual Christmas dessert luncheon for the staff. They plan and prepare the dessert themselves, send out invitations and decorate the room with festive holiday decorations carrying out the Christmas theme. The girls also serve as hostesses.

Janet Paulson cuts paper while Darlene Durant uses the electric typewriter and Kathy Weber and JoAnn Wagener compute figures on the adding machine. Carol Hendrickson, Cheri LeClair and Karen Wacholz prepare the bulletin board, advertising the monthly fudge sale.

Stage Force And Projection Crew

Stage Force Prepares For Assemblies And Meetings

The stage force is responsible for preparing the stage for all assemblies and meetings, working the lights during a program, and seeing that the proper mikes are set up. It is made up of two boys under the direction of Mr. Alex Heron.

The boys are especially busy around the time of the Christmas program and the senior class play. They are present at these programs to keep check on the lights and mikes so that the shows go off as smoothly as possible.

Clean-up is another job of the stage force. Many times the boys have to clean the stage after a pep assembly or a special science program.

The stage force is another group which volunteers its service to the school.

Ray Schmidt uses the stage phone while Mike Christian checks the controls that operate the sound equipment.

Projection Crew Runs All Audio Visual Equipment

The Projection Crew is made up of eight members. Their jobs include running projectors, ordering films, taking care of phonographs and seeing that all equipment is in working condition.

These jobs keep the boys busy almost every day. The Projection Crew is advised by Mr. Lloyd Marengo.

Projection crew is John Manthey, John Geer, Richard Allred, Gary Amunrud, Henry Schwartz, David Sandberg, Larry Hasse and Jim Perlich.

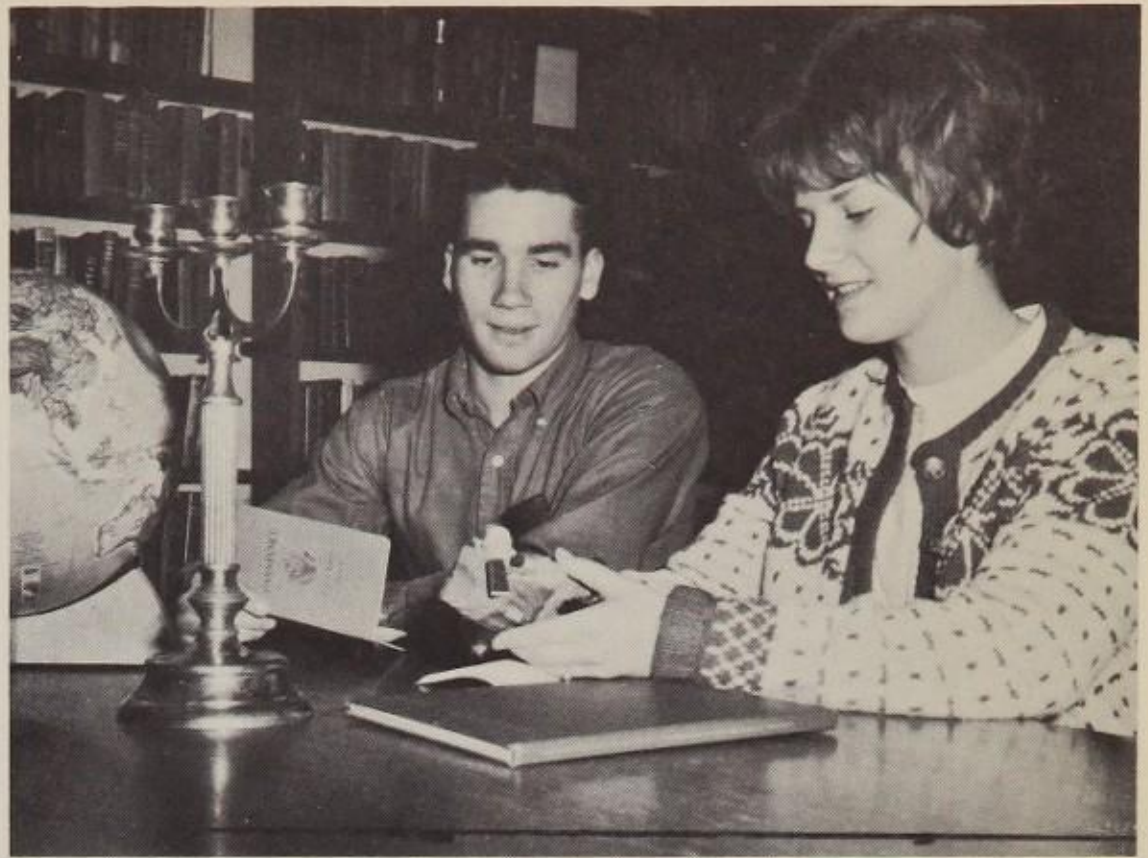

AFS

HiroYuki Sakaki, better known as Hiro, is our foreign exchange student from Nagoya, Japan. He arrived in St. Paul last August to live with Tom and Jim Nylund and to attend school at Murray. He is kept busy with the cross-country and basketball teams, Library Club, Student Council and "much" homework. However, he finds time in his busy schedule to answer students' questions about Japan.

Hiro is very much impressed with the school spirit American youth display at athletic events and with the size of our country.

He was one of six students chosen from sixty applicants for the AFS program. In order to qualify a student had to pass a written English exam and a interview involving questions on Japan and world affairs.

Murray students sponsored a barbecue to raise the money for a foreign student.

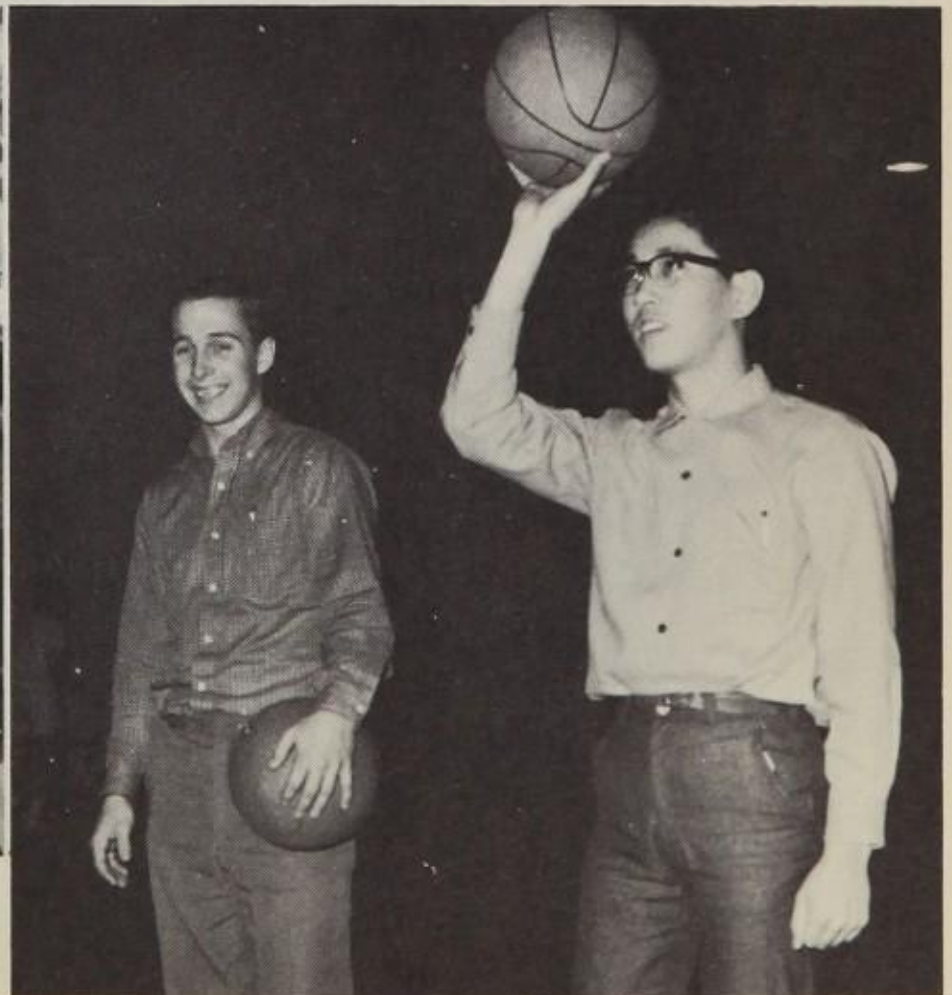

Bill Mantis, our foreign exchange student to Sweden last summer, talks to Vange Aus, who lived in Oslo, Norway, for two years. They are looking at some candlesticks, which are a gift from Bill's Swedish family, and a hand carved Norwegian troll, a good luck charm.

Future Teachers of America

The purpose of the Future Teachers of America organization is to acquaint students with the teaching field as a career. It is opened to all students who are either juniors or seniors in high school. The advisor is Miss Louise Smith.

FTA members assist teachers with classes, correct papers and help with special projects.

Looking up a word are FTA officers Joan Kampa, secretary; Sue Christianson, program chairman; Jeff Otto, vice-president; Karen Schroeder, treasurer; and Karen Lee, president.

FTA Gives Insight Of Teaching To Murray Students

FTA holds meetings throughout the school year. Speakers, panels and films are featured at these meetings.

Miss Margaret Paschke, mathematics teacher, and Miss Gladys Rose, guidance counselor, were two of the featured speakers. Miss Paschke spoke on the geology trip which she took last summer in Northern Minnesota. Miss Rose spoke on a college education, offering advice to those students interested in entering the educational field.

On February 20 some members attended a city-wide FTA meeting at Central High School. Included in the day's activities was a panel discussion on how to improve the FTA organization.

Miss Paschke outlines her geology trip for FTA members Pat Margette, Janet LeClair and Ann Hartwick. Miss Paschke had previously lectured at a FTA meeting on her trip.

In the opening game the Pilots met a strong Mechanic Arts team, which was favored for the title. Mechanics fell before the gridmen 19-6 in a game featuring an 83 yard kickoff return for a touchdown by John Zellner. Central was Murray's next opponent and delt a surprising 34-13 defeat to the Pilots.

The team settled down and defeated Johnson 7-0 in a defensive battle. City Champs Wilson was Murray's next opponent and handed the gridgers their only shut-out of the season, 18-0.

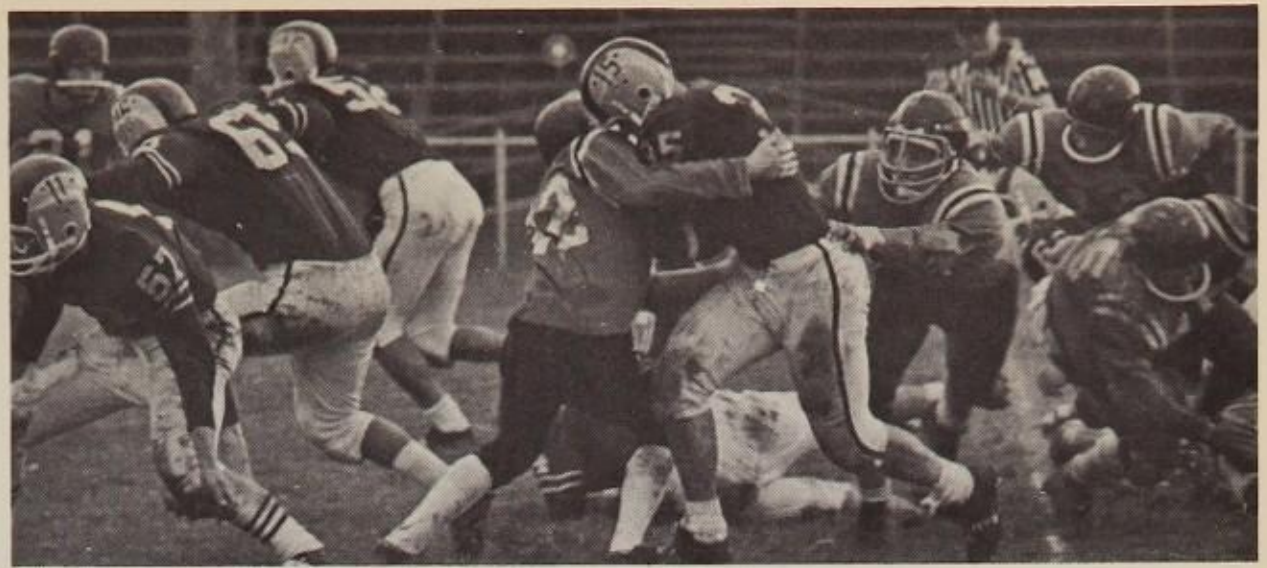

The gridmen took an attitude of revenge into their next games, and it paid off as they ripped Harding 20-6 to win Murray's first homecoming game in five years. The following week a strong Humboldt team fell victim to the Pilot powerhouse 12-6. Jim Dexter scored both touchdowns, the first on a 15 yard pass from John Zellner and the second on a 74 yard run.

Next, Murray met the Monroe Greenwave and was defeated 13-7 in the closing minutes. In the season's final game, Murray edged Washington 19-18 on two touchdowns by Jim Dexter and one by Keith Carlson.

Right, Washington's All-City fullback Rich Berzinski finds the going tough as the Pilot's defense bottles him up. Putting the clamps on him are Dick Erickson (22) and Fred Ahlgren. Other Murray players are John Zellner (21), Bill Watson (13) and Mark Thompson (45). Below, co-captain Jim Dexter (31) racks up six points against the Prexies. Providing running room are Wally Gayman (32) and Trygg Hansen. Trailing the play is half-back Bill Mantis (11).

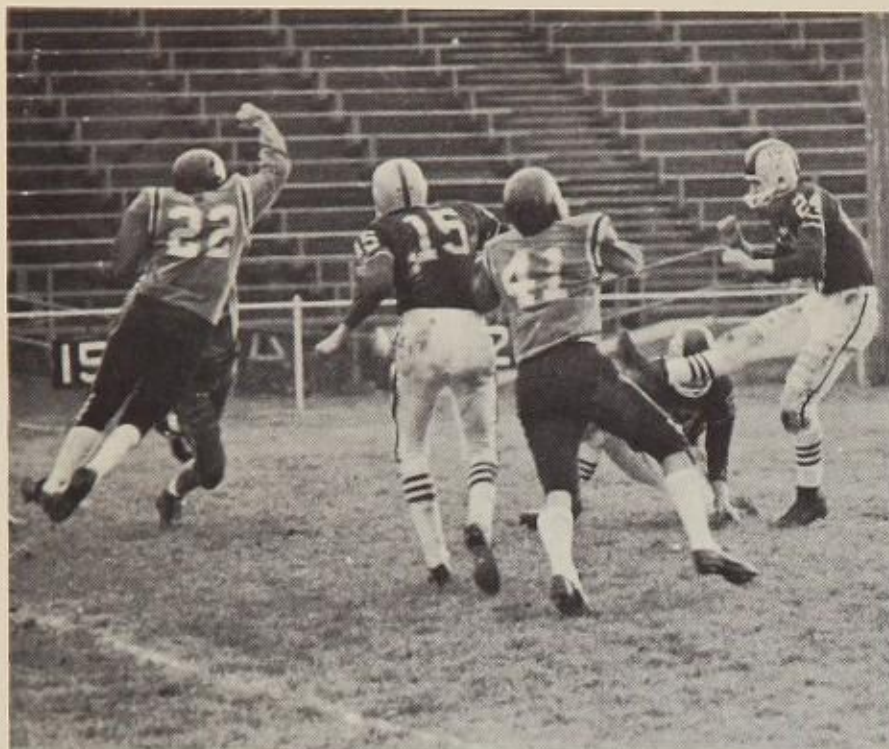

Gridders Tie For Second, Post 5-3 In Conference

This year's squad featured the fine passing of quarterback John Zellner and pass receiving of end Keith Carlson. Other outstanding points were the powerful running of fullback Jim Dexter and the excellent line play led by center Mark Thompson. These boys, along with end Greg Page, were honored on the St. Paul Dispatch — Pioneer Press All-City team. John, Keith and Mark were named on the first team with Jim on the second team, and Greg received Honorable Mention.

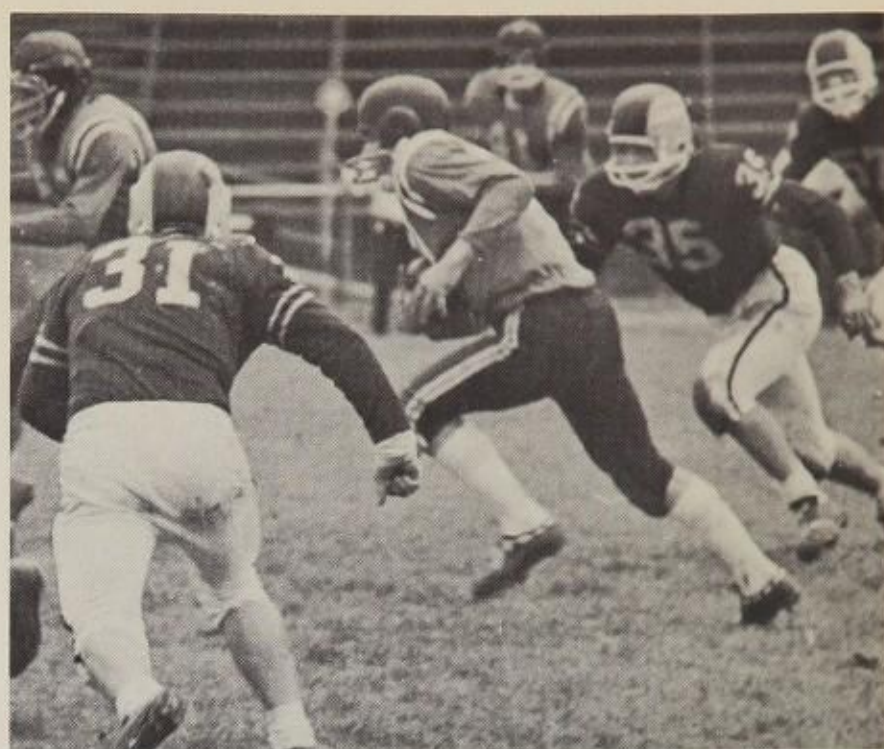

A leading factor in Murray's lineplay was the addition of a seven-man charger to the boys' practice facilities. This machine aided the gridgers in perfecting their blocking and tackling techniques.

Below, Greg Page, John Zellner and Mark Thompson bring down a Monroe runner. Moving up fast to add assistance are Fred Ahlgren (50), Wally Gayman (32), Jim Nelson (61), Jim Dexter (31), Bob Allen (23), and Bill Mantis (11).

Breaking through a gaping hole in the Washington defensive line, halfback Denny Lee heads for long yardage. Denny, a starting backfield man, was sidelined the latter part of the season with a knee injury.

JV Gridders Practice With Varsity, Improve Record

For the first year the Junior Varsity held regular practice sessions with the Varsity team. By practicing with the more experienced A-squad players, the younger Pilots became more proficient at blocking and tackling.

The boys learned many basic skills and adapted themselves to playing against bigger opponents. Using this training they were able to improve last year's record.

In conference play the boys won two games and lost three, two by just one touchdown. The gridders beat Harding 14-0 and Wilson 7-0 while dropping games to Washington 14-21, Johnson 0-6 and Humboldt 0-21.

Injuries played a major role in the season's play. The final game found only four backfield men available to participate.

Murray's harriers hustled their way to the combined City and Regional Championship, completing their sixth straight season of undefeated competition in dual meets.

Lead by their enthusiastic captain, Ted Granovsky, the Pilots succeeded in qualifying seven boys to contend in the State Meet where the rambler captured eleventh place. Ted had the distinction of placing first in every conference meet as well as finishing first in the City-Regional contest. The team as a whole found six runners among the first ten to finish. Following Ted were Paul Rogen, fifth; Pat Broderick, sixth; Tom Good, eighth; Stu Peterson, ninth; and Marty Brandt, tenth.

Ted Granovsky, right, outdistances all competitors to take first place in the City-Regional meet without an opponent in sight. Below, off and running at one of the three perfect meets, Murray's harriers take the lead. Captain Ted Granovsky paces the Pilots in defeating Harding 15-77.

Bucketmen Experience

The cagemen were unable to put together a complete game and ended the conference season without a win. Although showing great potential in spurts, the boys lacked the ability to score as a team. In each game Murray would have a high scorer but never the same one two games in a row. An example of this is the 19 points captain Jim Knutson poured in against Washington in the sub-district game. Other nights Ed Merrell, Elwood Enerson, Valdis Smits or Paul Rogen would hit double figures.

Despite the cagers record there were moments of great excitement. The losses suffered to Monroe and Harding were only by five points; both scores were 53-48.

Junior Bucketeteers Post Fine Non-Conference Record

The B-squad basketball team suffered seven losses in conference play. Their lone win was against Monroe 44-28.

The play of the young Pilots improved throughout the season. Evidence of this is found in the way they defeated Monroe 52-26 at the end of the season in a pre-tournament placement game.

Although not possessing a fine record in conference play, the young cagers carried a 5-3 non-conference record.

The team was hampered by the loss of three fine sophomores to the varsity.

Varsity Pucksters Post 20-5-1 Record For Season

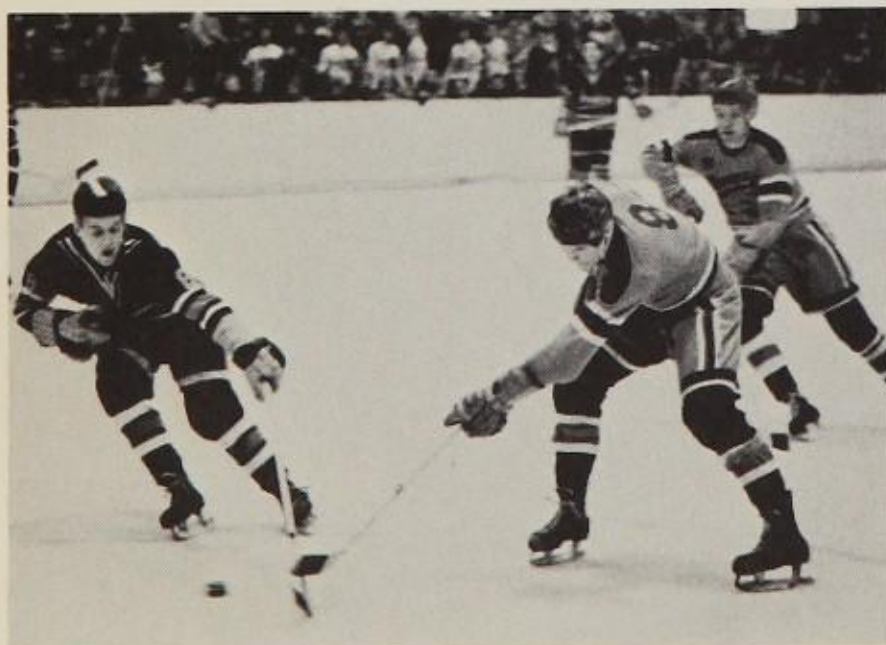

In conference play Murray's icemen posted a 12-3-1 record. Two of the losses were to State Champs Johnson; the other loss and the tie were to Humboldt. Both were beaten in the Region IV playdowns by Murray.

The boys opened the season with a 5-1 win over Minneapolis South on Thanksgiving Day. In the City Hockey Preview the Johnson sextet defeated the boys 2-0.

The conference opened with victories over Monroe and Harding. The pucksters lost to Humboldt, beat Wilson and lost to Johnson in their next tilts. The following four games were all victories for the Pilots.

Murray tied Humboldt and lost again to Johnson before Coach Broderick's skaters took to the road and crushed Madison West 10-0 and Madison East 12-0 to start a streak of eleven straight wins that was to carry the puckmen into the State Tournament.

Racing for the puck in the Humboldt game are Trygg Hansen (8) and Wally Gayman. Wally, the team's only sophomore, played both center and wing on the second line.

Icemen Capture Region IV, Place Fourth In State

Murray tied Humboldt for second place in the City Conference and played them for seeding in the Region IV playdowns. The Pilot powerhouse was victorious 3-1.

The icemen then whipped Central 9-2 and Monroe 7-2 before defeating Johnson 4-3 in overtime for the Region IV Championship. Besides advancing our icemen to the State Tournament, the game ended a nine year period in which a Murray hockey team had never beaten the Governors.

In the State Tournament the boys faced three powerful northern sextets. The first game found Warroad a 5-1 victim of the Pilots. In the next two games defending State Champs International Falls and runner-up Roseau defeated Murray 3-1 and 4-1 respectively.

For their outstanding play during the season, Greg Page, Mark Thompson and John Zellner were named to the All-City hockey team. Keith Carlson, Jim Dexter and Jim Nylund received Honorable Mention.

JV Pucksters Take Third In City Conference Play

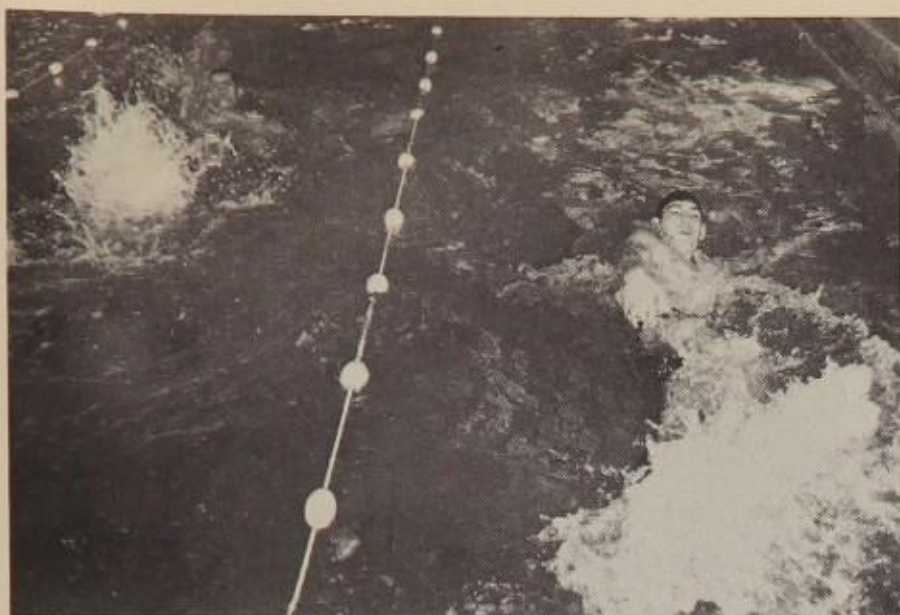

The JV pucksters captured third place in the conference standings this year with a 4-1-3 record. In the opening playoff game the young Pilots defeated Harding 3-2 to gain the finals. Johnson proved too strong for the ice-man in the City Championship game as they downed our skaters 7-0.

In season play the B-squad beat Humboldt 6-4, Central 6-1, Wilson 4-1 and Mechanic Arts 4-0 while losing to Johnson 1-3. The ties were against Harding, Washington and Monroe, 1-1, 2-2 and 3-3, respectively.

Murray opened the season with a 51-42 victory over Wilson. The merman then breezed by Monroe 57-31, Mechanic Arts 66-21 and Harding 66-29.

Johnson's swimmers invaded our pool the following week for a meet which was not decided until the last event when the Pilot medley relay crew won giving Murray a one point margin of victory.

The finmen downed Humboldt 70-23 before meeting Central. Central splashed their way to a 66-29 victory to capture the city title. The swimmers closed out their schedule with a 58-35 conquest of Washington.

Murray's wrestling team placed seventh in the City Conference with a 2-6 record. Conference wins were over Washington 35-14 and Monroe 26-24. Humboldt squeezed by the grapplers 26-25 and Wilson tipped the Pilots 24-22 in two very close meets.

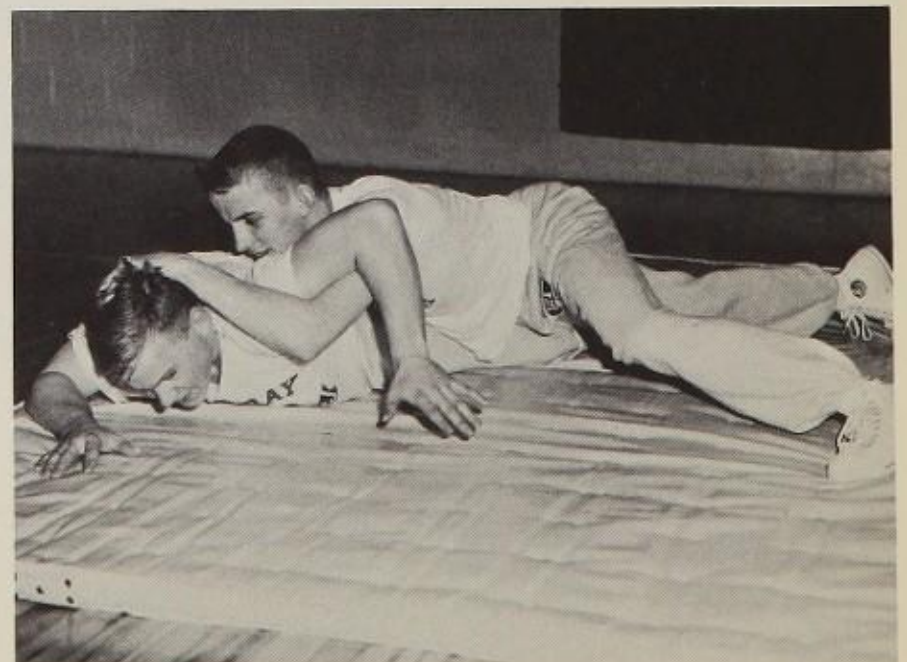

In the District Meet where the boys advance as individuals rather than as a team Murray took third place.

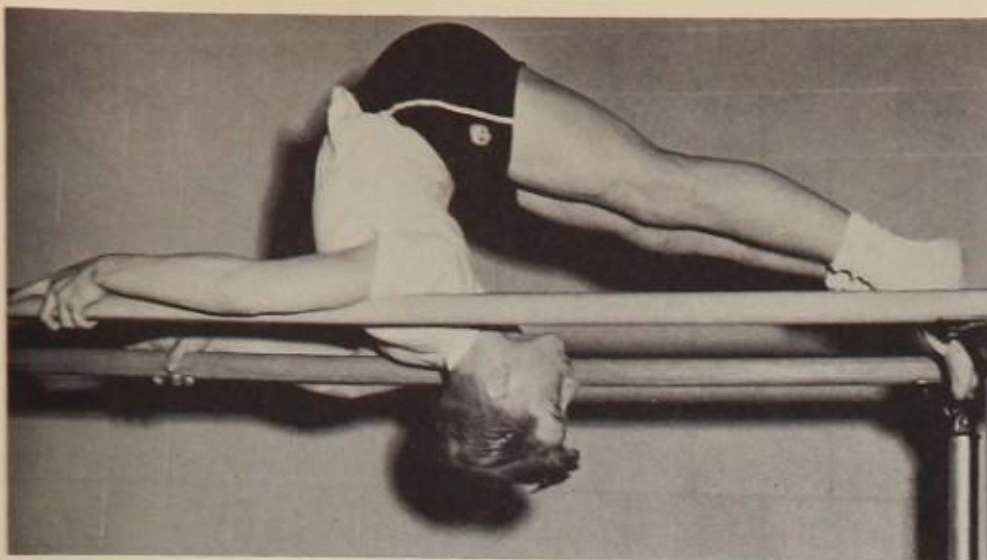

Gary Olson went through his second year without a conference or district loss to take first in his weight class. Bob Field placed second, Mike Halverson and John Larson third and Art Kottke and Ted Granovsky fourth.

The team's prospects are bright for the future as many of the lettermen are underclassmen.

Above, John Larson takes down a Humboldt opponent. John, out for his first year, was third in the District in his weight class. Right Ted Granovsky and Bob Field workout in preparation for a meet.

Gymnastics is divided into three competitive classes, A, B and C. C class participants perform the least difficult maneuvers on the gymnastic apparatus with a set routine. B class participants also perform a set routine, but it is harder than that of the C class. A class members, who perform the most difficult maneuvers, may do any set of tricks they desire in competition.

Distance Runners Prove Strong Point For Cindermen

Coach Vernon Petersen's trackmen were led individually by the long distance runners. The team as a whole captured fifth place in the City Meet.

In conference meets held at Central Stadium, Murray fell victim to Harding 61-44. Monroe defeated the cindermen 65-48 as the Pilots were unable to score well in all events.

Half-miler Pat Broderick and miler Mike Bergmann gained entrance to the State Meet by performing excellently in the City Meet.

Netmen Break Jinx, Post 5-3 In Conference Play

Junior Lea Lippert, right, returns an opponent's serve and positions himself for the volley. Lea was the team's third singles player.

Far right, Jim Dexter smashes a serve at the opposition. Jim played first singles during the season but in the play-offs doubled up with the second singles man Jim Nylund to win the city doubles championship.

Murray's tennis team which for the last three seasons has had a 4-4 record finally broke the jinx.

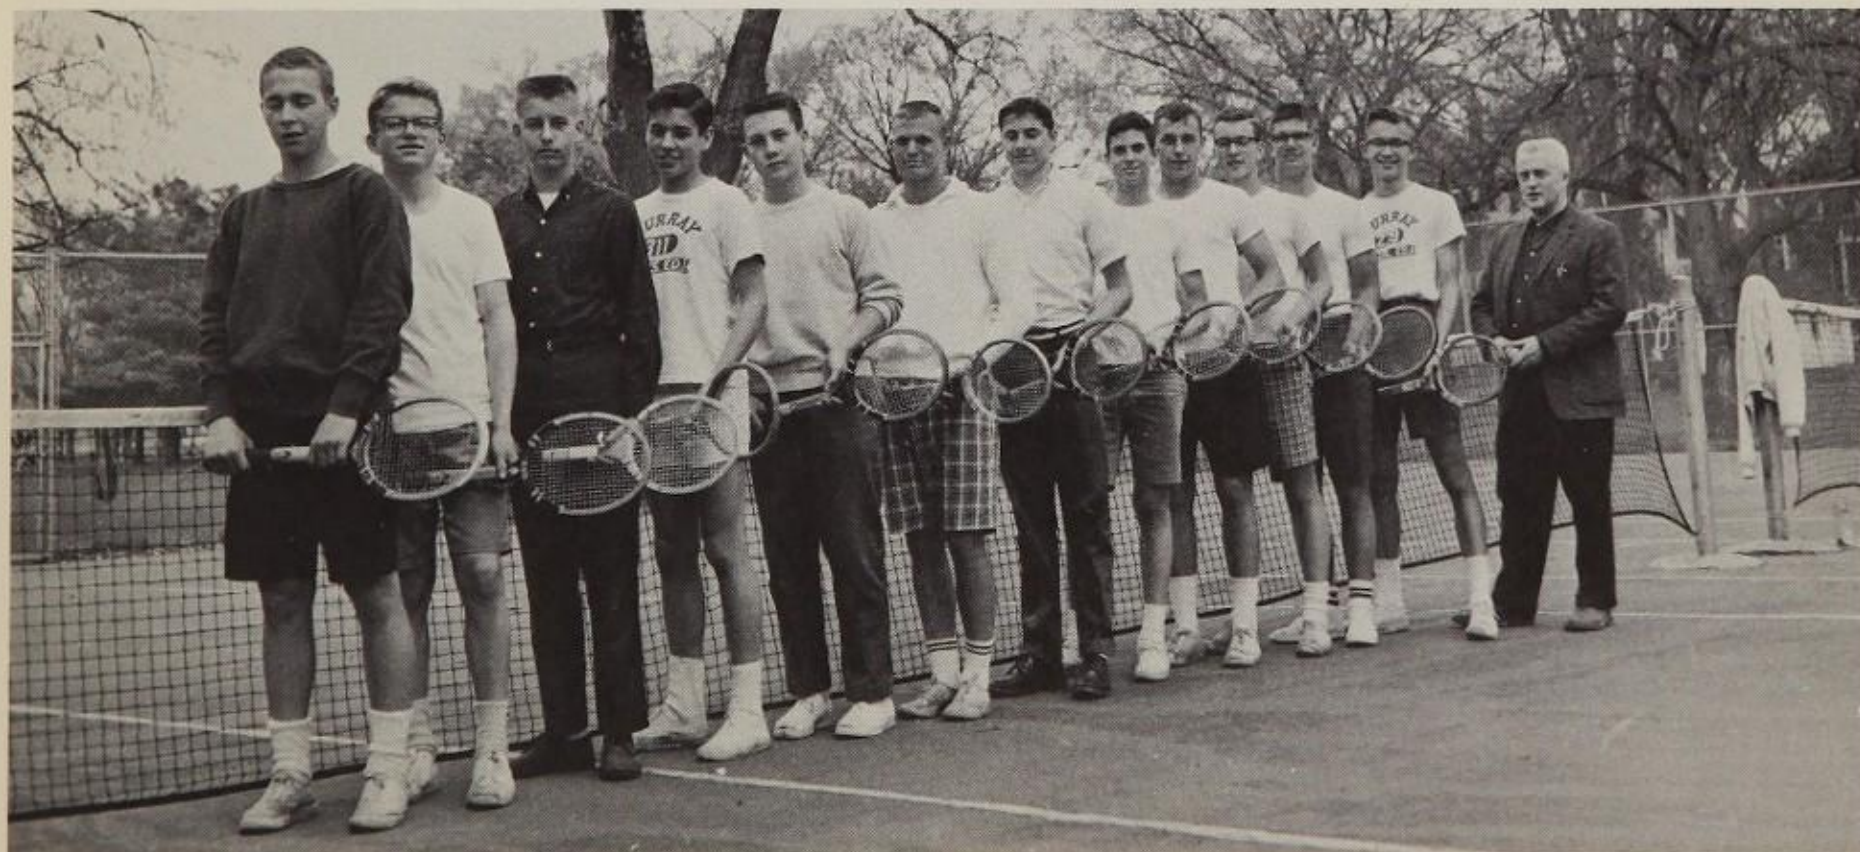

The outlook was bright as the netmen shut out Harding, Washington, Mechanic Arts and Monroe.

Then the future dimmed when Humboldt edged the Pilots 3-2 as did Wilson, and Central whitewashed the netmen 0-5. The jinx breaker against Johnson was a tight contest. Murray had won two matches and lost two as they awaited the finish of the last doubles match. The Pilots were victorious winning the meet 3-2.

In the Johnson game the diamondmen scored five runs in the last two innings but were beaten 6-5.

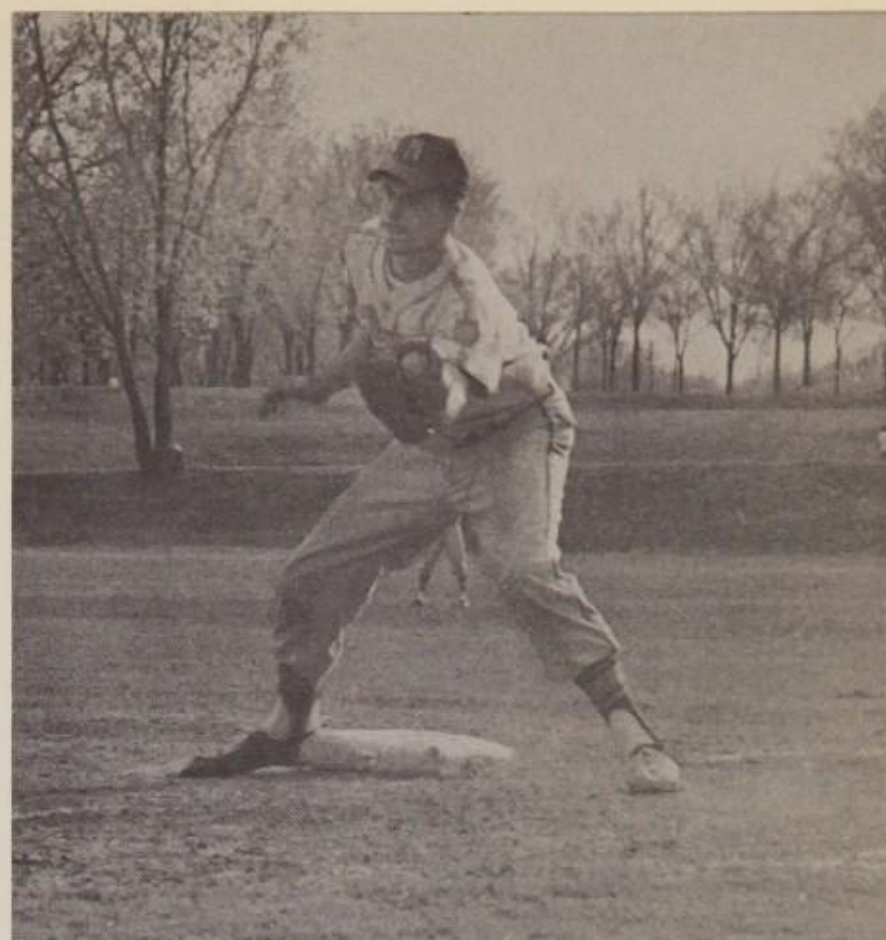

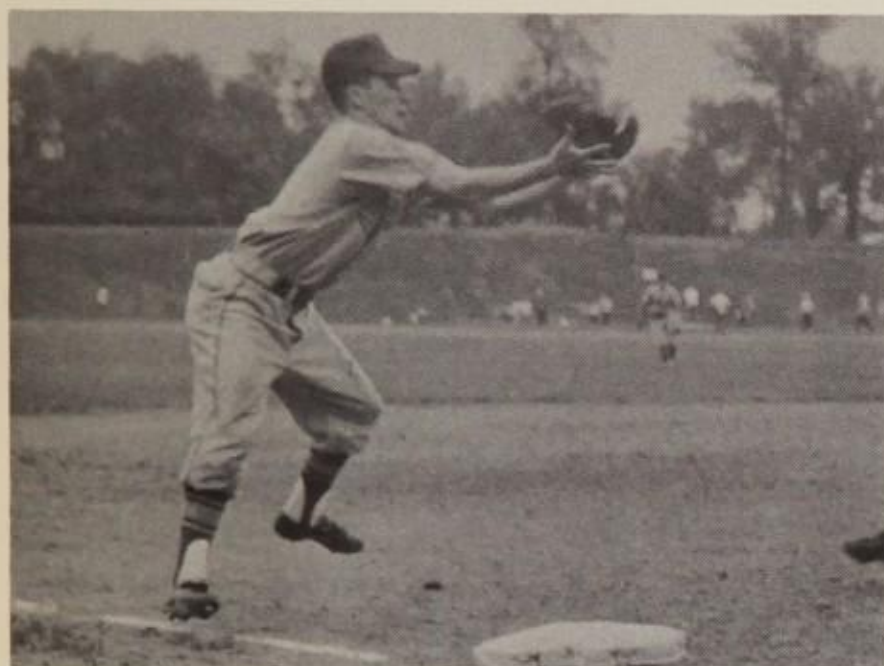

Central beat our Pilots 4-2 before the boys gained victories over Wilson 3-1 and Mechanic Arts 4-0.

The season ended in a 0-4 loss to Monroe.

Murray Linkmen Encounter Difficulty On Fairways

Murray's golfers posted a 2-6 record in City Conference play. The linkmen's victories were posted against Mechanic Arts and Monroe. The scores were 11-4 and 9½-4½ respectively.

In the loss column Harding defeated our golfers 11-4. Other losses were handed the Pilots by Washington, 12½-2½; Central, 13½-1½; Wilson, 8-7; Johnson, 15-0 and Humboldt, 10-5.

Leading the golf squad was junior Dick Erickson who consistently posted low scores. Jim Stromberg, Gerald Krueger and John Arneman also did well for the Pilots on the fairways.

Murray's Intramural Program Draws Large Turnout

The intramural program consists of four sports. Bowling, hockey and softball are led by Mr. Pearson while Mr. Rose directs the basketball.

Steve Johnson's "Bombers" captured the intramural hockey crown. Homeroom teams participated in the basketball program this year. In bowling, team and individual awards are presented at the end of each season. Baseball closes out the intramural sports program in the spring.

The letters are awarded at an awards assembly in the

Each year Murray's GAA has a number of activities organized and lead by the GAA officers. Heading this year's group are, at right, Margaret Wolf, recording secretary; Kathleen Duncan, treasurer; Gayl Gayman, secretary; Jane Gilje, vice-president; and Priscilla Hager, president. Serving as the mainstay of the organization, these girls planned such activities as the Homecoming festivities, including the sale of buttons, an Easter tea for the faculty and a spring picnic following the award assembly. GAA advisor Mrs. Patricia Fritsche helped the girls with her enthusiasm and participation.

New Gymnasium And Swimming Pool Aid GAA

With the addition of Murray's new gymnasium and swimming pool, the Girl's Athletic Association has broadened its activities and increased participation.

The purpose of GAA is to give freshmen through senior girls a chance to take part in athletic activities, enjoy new sports and make new friends. The girls are organized into teams and compete for championships in various sports. Through this participation girls can earn letter awards by accumulating 1000 points over a three or four year period. An additional 500 points gains an All-City letter.

Mrs. Patricia Fritsche is the GAA advisor.

GAA Sportheads Co-ordinate Activities For Girls

GAA sportheads, chosen in the spring of their sophomore year by officers and previous sportheads, are kept busy choosing team captains, organizing game schedules and helping the officers.

Tumbling is the most improved of this year's supervised sports because of added facilities. For the first time the girls were allowed to work with the parallel bars, the horse and the high bar. The trampoline and mats also got an increased workout.

Row 1: Jeanne Ewy, Jayne Hanson, Karen Erickson, Jean Heaton, Alice Magnusson, Katherine Boyle, Kimberly Condie, Mildred Vong, Adrienne Anderson, Nancy Gisvold, Joanne Thoennes, Barbara Turnquist, Susan Lindgren.

Left, Mrs. Fritsche supervises Vicky Beyer, Pam Roan, Nancy Uram, Bonnie Hassinger, Barb Souther, and Kathy McKay in doing the "merry-go-round".

Jerry -
the very best to a really sharp guy -
I really hope I can see you this summer even though school is out.
We really have had some laughs huh -
Be good now and
God bless you -

Janet
Paulson

P.S. I read what you wrote, Dialogize, and I probably will.

Hope to see you lots!!

Legs:
Well I guess
this is my chance to thank you for coming to my 4th hour class and making it so much fun for me. Ha!
One more thing - "Legs Cut" -
Lyle P.S. Good luck.

Ferry,

Well here it is the end of the senior year
I really didn't think either of us would make it. Me because of flunking out and you well —
Be good, and I would really like to go to one of those parties. O.K.

Sharon

der.
 lots of fun in everything you do & hope you have a lot of luck. It has been fun in English class for the times we have been in here. Will hope to see you this summer.
 Bob.

Jerry,
 Good luck
 to a nice kid.
